Hey Professor Bund,

I'm sure you don't remember me, but I just wanted to say thank you for your class (CIS 315). I took it Winter 2016 quarter (or maybe Fall prior) and it was instrumental in not only showing my value at my current job, but landing me my new consultant/BA role with Capgemini! Not only were the various diagrams you taught very useful in helping business visualize current and to-be processes (they love the swim lanes especially), but I also ishikawa'd the hell out of Capgemini's case study (of which they were super impressed!).

The main reason I reached out to you, though, is that your story of one of your students landing a job at Deloitte over other 'higher tier' college students was inspirational. Now you can add mine to your repertoire as I beat out a literal room full of USC and UCI grads. (:

Thanks again.

Wish you all the best,
